I. Context and Objectives

This seminar takes place within the context of the on-going activities of the Católica Research Centre for Psychological, Family and Social Wellbeing (CRC-W). The seminar is also held in partnership with the Inter-University PhD Social Work Programme between Catholic University of Portugal and University of Coimbra and in collaboration with the FCH/UCP Post-Graduate Program on Child and Youth Protection System.

The child wellbeing remains a very relevant issue and challenge in the Portuguese society. In the last years public policy reforms are being intended in this field in order to achieve higher patterns of child protection and developmental conditions. Child wellbeing and particularly the foster care is also a CRC-W research proposal. In these circumstances child wellbeing and foster care presents as a stimulating context to promote this seminar.

In this framework the objectives of the seminar are:

- To contribute to disseminate the research and debates on child wellbeing and foster care practices and policies;
- To analyse the contribution of the social work research to the child wellbeing and foster care policies improvement;
- To create the opportunity for debate and reflection among researchers, doctorate, post-graduate students and child protection system practitioners in related relevant topics.

II. Addressees

- CRC-W researchers and collaborators
- Students of UCP, UC and other PhD Social Work Programmes
- Social work academics
- Researchers and child protection professionals interested in the study of child wellbeing and foster care
